Notice

Ultra Electronics DNE Technologies, Inc. is announcing the discontinuation of the TAC 300/900 Multi-service Concentrators and the PacketAssure TL/EX Service Delivery Managers. Final orders will be accepted until October 01, 2011, and final deliveries must occur on or before April 01, 2012. Lack of customer demand and parts obsolescence issues have necessitated this discontinuance. DNE’s PacketAssure iQ product line, which is detailed below, supersedes the TAC and PacketAssure TL/EX product series.

Prior to October 01, 2011, an end-of-life buy may be placed directly with Ultra-DNE. Please contact:

A five-year support life will be available for all TAC and PacketAssure TL/EX Systems and Modules. This support life will include Ultra-DNE's one-year warranty from the date of purchase, as well as telephone support and factory repair of all serviceable components as parts remain available. After five years, support will be available on a 'best-effort' basis, contingent upon parts availability. The support life for cables and accessories will include Ultra-DNE's one-year warranty from the date of purchase, with "best effort" support beyond the warranty period.

Because Ultra-DNE remains committed to providing high-quality, secure communication components to the DoD, Ultra-DNE has developed the PacketAssure iQ, a next-generation Service Delivery Manager. The IQ is an Ethernet-based Service Delivery Manager that delivers precise, guaranteed service delivery like its TAC and PacketAssure TL/EX predecessors. In addition to traffic policing, the PacketAssure iQ supports

ITEF marking, modification of DSCP code points, blocking, and mirroring of traffic over a non-blocking 18 Gbps switching platform. And like the TAC and TL/EX, the PacketAssure iQ supports Unified Communications over EIA-530. But in addition, the iQ supports EIA-530 over IP.

If you have questions regarding the discontinuation of TAC or PacketAssure TL/EX product lines, compatibility issues, or ordering replacement products, please contact:
